Directed by ANILCA, in 1987 the U.S Forest Service created a program that issued special-use permits for these unauthorized cabins. These permits were renewable every five years and nontransferable, terminating upon the death of the last immediate family member of the original claimant. The intent was to phase out these cabins, nowhere more important than in Wilderness, which is managed for its wildness. It is important that these restrictions remain in place to protect these areas and help to keep them "wild."

Please do not allow the restrictions on these permits to be removed.

Thank you for your consideration of this important matter.
