

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 3/8/2024 11:16:17 PM

First name: Cathy

Last name: Simmons

Organization:

Title:

Comments: Obviously, cabins don't belong in designated Wilderness. The U.S. Forest Service should leave its policy unchanged and phase out ANILCA cabins, as was the original intent. These cabins were never meant to remain in Wilderness, and to change this policy undermines ANILCA and the Wilderness Act.