Comments: The original defined used and duration of the ANILCA cabins was fair and appropriate. However, permitting the cabins to continue to be used and no duration limits is not appropriate. The intent I expect was to provide some compensation for those who owned the cabins as the land was not initially designated a Wilderness. It is now and Wilderness is not a place for the ongoing use of human dwellings. These ANILCA cabins should retain their original restrictions so that their use will end and the land can be as intended, true wilderness.
