Comments:

Cabins invite humans, neither one belongs in designated Wilderness. The U.S. Forest Service must leave its policy unchanged and phase out ANILCA cabins, as was the original intent. These cabins were never meant to persist in Wilderness, and to change this policy would undermine ANILCA and the Wilderness Act. Please protect our wilderness, what's left of it, and start protecting the wildlife /ie ecology of our ONE PLANET. There is no time to lose. Thank you.
