Comments: I am placing a comment here stating there are no maps provided to show the proposed closures to snowmobiles in the Lolo National Forest. Snowmobiles have been used in several areas of the National forest and have caused no impact to nature and local wildlife. There has been information apparently placed in the Missoula News paper but nothing listed in the surrounding areas such as Stevensville, Hamilton, Florence just to name a few. This is America and the people All the people have a Right to have there Voices and Opinions Heard. It is just down right dirty to not let people know that you are changing our access to our public lands and Furthermore not providing what the proposed actions should be. I am a Combat Soldier! I Have Fought for this Country and for the rights of the American People and My Rights. I am a Disabled Combat Veteran from War injuries and I personally find peace to ride my snowmobile into the back country and enjoy the scenery, the nature and more experiences that you can not even imagine. I've personally given up allot for the American people! I will not stand quietly while a group of people try to take my freedoms that I have earned away!! Please put the information out to the public and not in a manner that only spreads the bare minimums. We have a Right to be informed and a Right to voice our concerns and not finding out these decisions after the fact. Please provide all information and information on the proposed impact areas with actual solid proof that snowmobiles are hurting the National Forests.
