Comments: Here you go again proposing old-school treatments that cause We The People to oppose your management over-reach.

Herbicides: You do NOT need to use chemical poisons ("herbicides") to kill plants in fuelbreaks. There are many other options. I oppose the use of chemical poisons for this project and urge you to modify any alternative that you may select to delete chemical herbicides for fuelbreaks.

Logging large diameter trees: I object to the proposed cutting of very large trees up to 40" in diameter. You should leave all such large trees for wildlife habitat and other "old forest" values.

You are starting to smell like the old USFS. Please modify this project to eliminate chemical poisons and cutting of large trees.
