Comments: Please go to this link to read about the benefit of leaving some logs, slash and other dead matter on the ground to provide speed up the recovery from logging. Removing all the trees eight inches dbh and under and piling and burning them is old school forest ignorance. The so called dead matter is a nutrient feast for a healthy forest. It does not take wildlife or natural forest regeneration into account. Fire intensity is not significantly increased by leaving a limited amount dead matter on the forest floor.
