I truly believe that we must now be very serious and prudent about conserving our forests and any wilderness we have left. To that point, the decimation of an area of 12,000 acres by the very service that is designated to protect such is an abomination of their mission. I assume this proposition is largely for economic reasons. However, what is the point of destroying a vast natural water filtration system, a home for countless species of wildlife, a source of oxygen for the earth, even a source of well-being for our own nervous systems? What is the point?? I offer a sincere objection to this proposed logging plan. In this day and age, when we have a deep knowledge of the consequences of such proposals, it is a travesty of our the intelligence.
