Comments: I object the proposal of the US Forest Service to log 600 acres via the Sandwich Vegetation Management Project #57392. I disagree with the assessment that this project will have limited impact, as I am regular visitor to this area as a hiker. The impact for that activity would directly diminish the beauty and the enjoyment of the land, nevermind displace and affect the flora and fauna that call this home.

All of these "small impact" projects do add up. Rather than look through a microscopic lens regarding nature, it would be in far better interest of the US Forest Service to use a wider scope looking at the cumulative effects of these. These 600 acres represent a source of CO2 removal. In light of the dramatic climate shift that we are experiencing, it would be far more beneficial to not remove an invaluable resource to help combat climate change.
