Comments: After reading the Green Mountain National Forest Environmental Assessment report and the optional alternatives for action, how can there be a choice other than putting these decisions on hold until we know what the nationwide Forest Plan amendment process yields. Clearly, waiting 8 to 10 months for the US Forest Service to complete a comprehensive study and concomitant recommendation regarding BEST forestry practices for all of us is the ONLY good choice to support.

My dad always said to look to the money. What is cutting down old growth trees providing for whom? And how does cutting them down affect the rest of us?
