Comments: Lots of people depend on mushrooms and huckleberries alot of mom and pops businesses use morels or huckleberries we need to manage it. The big problem if it's not manage all the big buyers will bring in crews from Oregon, California, Washington and pick it anyway not caring about rules. They get dropped off and picked up camp inside areas so they are not spotted. The first thing to happen is Crack down on the buyers this needs to be managed as a resource. You need to sell permits and make people show that they are legal citizens to be able to sell a permit to. Everybody inside a area needs to have a permit. If they are caught with out one make sure the go see the judge and jail time and never be able to pick the forests area again. Huckleberries need to be managed the same way along with along with all the greenery. If you need help to come up with a managed plan I can help. I hope you bring back green slipping to. Thanks for your time Ben Bewick. Boughs and cedar
