

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 4/4/2024 11:15:21 AM

First name: Arthur

Last name: Berndt

Organization:

Title:

Comments: Climate science is very clear - mature and old forests with large trees will sequester and store more carbon in the next 30 to 50 years than a planted, young forest. The plan to harvest old growth trees in the Telephone Gap area is ill advised and does not even consider what happens to the carbon presently stored in this forest.