Comments: The following comment is in support of "alternative B" which is the proposed harvest plan for the Telephone Gap project on GMNF.

My father owns a logging company in Vermont, I have grown up around logging and forest management My whole life, and will soon be going to work full time in the industry. I am supporting sustainable forestry because trees one of the best natural resources we have, not only because of the fact that they are renewable, but they take in carbon and produce the oxygen we need to breathe. The best thing we can do is carry out more sustainable forest management so we have more natural resources available, take in more carbon, and produce more oxygen. If there truly is a climate crisis that we have caused with carbon emissions, then one big way I see we can help solve it is to create more working forests that take in more carbon. I hope the in the future forest management with be promoted as a good thing and will create a more stable career for people like me that have a strong love for the woods and a passion for sustainable forestry

Sincerely,

A concerned forest products industry employee
