At DCi, we have been supporters and benefactors of sustainable forestry for several years. We have a sawmill in Vermont, and a furniture factory in New Hampshire, selling our dorm furniture to colleges and Military installations worldwide. We feel it is critical to have a healthy, well maintained and efficient forest to have an endless supply of nice New England hardwood. A healthy forest is one that is diverse, has abundant wildlife, and is a source for recreation and enjoyment for all of us. We have some log suppliers that only cut in a year what can grow in a year, and one supplier has an infinite supply of 750,000 BF annually by managing his forests well. I support plan B multi use.
