Comments: I am against the overnight huts proposed. How does a private company have the ability to make a profit off of public lands owned by taxpayers? Snowmobilers pay for the use of the mountain through registration that covers grooming, road maintenance and cleanup. Snowmobilers are expected to leave the mountain every day unless they camp in the parking lot. I think the rules should be the same for everyone; pack out what you pack in, day use only for the NRA and if you want to stay overnight camp in the parking lot. Has anyone factored in the possibility that these huts may be vandalized if unoccupied or what about the vehicles left overnight in the parking lots with people staying in the huts. Teenagers and others frequently "party" in the parking lots/gravel pits on the weekends at night which often involves bonfires & shooting guns. Vehicles left overnight are prime targets to be torched, vandalized or stolen. The rules on the mountain currently are working great as-is, why change it?
