Comments: As so many equestrian trails designated as equestrian only are turning into use for everyone, it is so exciting to hear there is a possibility that we may have a new trail with the equine only designation. There are so many people out there that are uneducated about how to share a trail with equines and many accidents have happened due to this. I do not want to stop anyone from enjoying the trails, as equestrians do, but large animals and electric bikes, motor cycles, cars, etc., do not work well together unless their owners are educated about equestrian trail etiquette. I would say not many people are. Thank you for considering trails for horses only.
