Comments: As an avid snow machine user and advocate for registration purchase to support the grooming programs across the state, I would like to go on record to say that although I'm not opposed to the ideas proposed here, I am concerned with the impact on groomed routes that we pay for, and the inevitable refuse accumulation that will present itself when this type of activity is not closely monitored. As the primary user group, historically, we always get blamed for damage and littering, as a matter of course. I don't mind sharing the trails at all, with all user groups, year round. My concern is not myself, however, it's the other folks, and how we, as a whole, can be affective stewards, without having to "babysit" the other guy.
