Comments: I am very excited about the ecological aspects of this project and love that the Tribe is working with the state.

My concerns: where is the plan for the many, many, MANY carloads of winter recreationalists who visit Gold Creek. I see written that they can just go elsewhere, however, as a person who has been recreating in the winter in this area for well over a decade, I can't think of anywhere that can absorb all the people. I think this area is of grave concern as there is already a huge parking problem at the pass in the winter. Can existing parking at other areas be increased? Can new sno-park opportunities be cultivated? Thank you for considering.
