Comments: At first I was excited to hear about opportunities for backcountry huts... but then I realized they would all be run by private entities. The idea that certain huts would be pay for play only by 4 organizations within our public lands doesn't sit well with me. Is there any way for public use, it appears not. If not, I stringently oppose private only huts.

I worry about resource damage and waste management.

How will conflicts between different user groups like snowmobiles, backcountry skiers and snowshoers (like me) be managed? I also dislike knowing that access will be paid by sno-park fees by users who appear to not be able to use these huts.
