Comments: I like the idea of mountain huts for recreational access and shelter, however, I'm concerned that there is not enough information available to properly assess if the huts outlined in this proposal are a good idea or not. In particular, will these huts be open to the public or will they require an expensive guide fee for access? Will they require paid snowmobile access? Will they create a conflict amongst user groups? Without additional information, it is impossible to make an informed opinion about these proposed huts.
