Comments: I have hiked this area intermittently since the 1960's, it has been wonderful & strenuous at the same time. Recently I was doing remote camera monitoring with CNW up valley; and now seeing the recent news coverage of the trash being left at the Gold Creek trail head, I feel education efforts & weekend patrols of this area are worth adding to your agenda. This was documented on one of the local TV stations. Asking people to go elsewhere to recreate will just move the trash along; if you bring it, take it back and dispose of it properly.

I am in favor of using root wads and other natural structure stones to rework the creek as needed for fish habitat; filling the pond with water is also a great idea. Keep up the great efforts to restore this area.
