Comments: There is significant recreational impacts for winter, parking for cars in general near Snoqualmie Pass is at a premium. Closure of Gold Creek Sno-Park makes it so that people can't visit other areas during the closure because of no parking available at those other areas. No public transportation either. The Snoqualmie Pass the I-90 corridor is so crowded now, compared with 30 years past that I've played non motorized there. The Forest Service didn't have the foresight or money to consider this huge increase in outdoor recreation. It's like a zoo on the available hiking/skiing areas up there.
