

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 5/2/2024 9:22:04 PM

First name: Frank

Last name: HARRIS

Organization:

Title:

Comments: The Gold Creek Valley Restoration Plan is written as if restoration can be done in the absence of human users of the same area. Besides conservation groups and agencies who created this Plan there needs input from other interests. The video presentation on restoration makes a clear case for habitat restoration but its view on current and future human activity are not the ideas of user groups who also have plans of there own to bring to the table.

Reconciliation between parties would be a better approach on this issue