Comments: This is God's country and he designed as such to help cure and nurture its people. That's why are trees were put here in the first place. Other than the extremely serious leading role our trees play in our respiratory process, the forrest in its beauty with all the trees are what cures an abundance of mental health issues across the country, but more prominently in this area you're threatening. My family as well as myself have practiced holistic health medicine for years, and mature trees are the key ingredient to many forms of treatment and cures for common ailments. We need them! It takes decades for trees to grow to the maturity of the ones that you're trying to take down. This type of logging is unacceptable and detrimental to the health and wellness of society not to mention the poison that will leech into our water supply and soil from the herbicide that follows. This situation is too dangerous to be so intentional.
