Comments: Removal of the A-chair removes an important area for beginner snowboarders (there are already so few good beginner snowboard areas on the mountain).

The first half of that chair (exit at the mid-point) was ideal when I learned to snowboard because it avoided the initially steeper and later flat sections required to get to the "Maggie" area where the quicksilver -- and now the new gondola -- entrances will be. It also provides a reasonably constant beginner pitch without being too flat and without having competing fall lines.

Please retain the A-chair (at least the first half of it).
