Comments: I'm highly concerned about the push to convert more area in our mountains to motorized use. As a cross-country skier, snowshoer, and snowboarder, motorized vehicles represent noise, pollution, and danger when I come into contact with them on the slopes and trails. The currently proposed plans greatly limit safe areas for use by non-motorized athletes, including Big Meadows, Lobo, and areas adjacent to Wolf Creek. I'm afraid that if these areas are opened to motor vehicles, there will be damage to our environment, limited use, and unsafe encounters by those participating in the winter sports that we live here for.
