Comments: Slowly all land is being wiped out before our eyes from stripping to clear cutting ! What's left you can't walk through or do anything with. Wildlife and future generations of outdoorsman , hikers , sportsman, so on is all that's paying in the long run. You had a good run it's over ! Logging should be done only with mules and against law to clear cut. Get butt hurt if you want I'm no tree hugger but I know when enough is enough. Greed and a straight ignorance has taken this country. Coal is over here they try to strip over the same as 50 year or more ago. And most of the time they come in tear it all up trying to find coal and can't get enough Earth stripping. Reclaims are a-lot better than previous years. But again you had a good run it's over. I'd like to see my kids and grandchildren enjoy what little land is left, not a desert. Select cut only mature timber using mules is only way to log. You go look what was logged like this and you can actually walk through it still. Clean up the tree tops at least leave younger timber.
