Comments: I think Jellico should be left alone. we need trees especially older trees for carbon capture as per President Biden. we need large tracks of forest for many species, one being the Cerulian warblers,that require over 7000 acres. other species that would be affected are the INDIANA BAT and Northern Long Ear bat. the steep mountain sides also will cause slides and effect water quality. this will impact the cumberland darter. i am really saddened by the forest service total disregard for our enviroment.
