Comments: Hello,

South 32 (S32) is going to be the engine our community has been needing to grow. Although there is many concerns about this project, the benefits that will come are endless. Through all the interactions I have had with S32, they have addressed all my concerns 100s of times. I trust the work S32 is doing and have seen the work they have done in other countries and honestly see them being an honest company who cares about the community they are in. I am proud to have them in our community and a possibly future employer for my children.

I think this project is so important to the USA, and as a Military Veteran it is imperative that we source and find these resources closer to home. Due to the importance of these materials, USA should consider opening up a smelter to help our production of these materials.
