Comments: On this planet and in our region we have very little old growth forest left. There are so many ecological reasons to not alter this environment. These are listed in the Challenge.

In addition to all that - the sale and demolition of the natural beauty and ecosystem - the plan seems narrow and shortsighted and probably focused on quick profits. This plan seems to be missing how humanity's well being is interdependent with the well being of a diverse ecosystem that has huge impacts on the climate and quality of air and water.

In our current age, where we know how to cultivate and resource sustainable growth plantings (bamboo for one,) I want to encourage having a long vision that takes all beings into the equation.

many thanks.
