Comments: I am writing about the free for all advantage for global mining corporations going on in Arizona right now because of our antiquated Mining Laws from the 1800s.

The water crisis in Arizona is only going to escalate if Mining is allowed to dewater and contaminate our aquifers without consequences.

Our Public Lands should not be subject to degradation from Foreign Mining Corporations, they bring nothing of value to the State of Arizona, only massive damages to our ecosystems, wildlife, Tourist Economy and quality of Life.

Until we get paid for the minerals being extracted so we can try to remedy all the problems caused by mining, there should be a moratorium on all projects, particularly ones that have the potential to cause massive health problems - like the permanent neurological diseases caused by mining of Manganese.

How will our health care system survive when the people of Arizona are damaged for life from these toxic minerals in our dust, air and water?

Our public lands need more protection now, before we see the same kind of catastrophic damages in Arizona that have been recorded all over the world from the same Mining Corporation projects.
