Comments: I'm disgusted in the rush for money and power these days and total disregard for the environment and the lack of water resources you need that will totally deplete the water necessary for basic living uses for all of the people in this valley. Your dedication to money and power will be the demise of our world. Please take moments to look around you and see the sacred land and her beauty and reconsider your major destructive aims.

I'm certain nothing I have said will change your minds or the further development of your mining plans...I am certain of one thing, Karma is real and always actions will return for an opportunity for correction and the lessons get harder as life goes on. Your life is connected to ALL of life and you will someday see the destruction you've participated in!!!
