Comments: I thoroughly enjoy discovering the beauty of the Rio Grande National Forest. However, I'm concerned with the amount of over-the-snow machine access you are allowing in the travel management plan. I don't believe that noise pollution has been fully considered when deciding to allow over-the-snow machines throughout the forest. This not only adversely affects all other forest users within miles of a single over-the-snow machine, but it also negatively affects wildlife that depend on this forest for their survival. I think over-the-snow machines should have limited access to the forest to allow peaceful solace for other users and wildlife
