Comments: I support the widening of the transmission right of way. There have been several wild fires over the last decade that we have seen detrimental impacts across the country. Many leading to property damage and loss of lives. The transmission utility lines help power entire cities and communities and outages not only pose safety concerns but disruption of power to many people. Early successional habitat is key for many wildlife species bears, rabbits, deer, along with many types of birds along with many pollinator habitat. With the widening I would like to see Duke do something for biking or hiking trails for public to enjoy as well. Maybe gravel greenway bike trail??
