Comments: The snowmobile community is an amazing community that brings all walks of life together in nature. As part of this community my partner and I strive to protect and honor the land we are able to use while doing the sport we love. I would say that since this is the people's land, we the people should be able to enjoy it respectfully and safely. In the summer people are allowed all over this land, I believe that the same should be allowed in the winter. I think in many ways the snowmobile community leans more towards conservation than that of the summer off roading crowd that tends to trash the land. Maybe reconsider summer travel instead...
