Comments: The conservation of our forests is so important. I am watching with my own eyes as my own forest (Stokes State Forest in NJ) becomes less green as the Beech tree dies from Beech Leaf Disease. I have three little kids and my heart breaks with the idea that these spaces would not be here for them, their children, their grandchildren. This speaks nothing of the environmental impact of losing native species. We are all connected to this environment whether we want to see it or not. We should be doing everything we can to assist the forests and manage situations (invasive species, climate change) that we created. I am in full support of the government using my tax dollars to save these forests.
