Comments: Trails are built for rider experience and to respect wildlife and nature. I came from a place in Arizona where they allowed e-bikes and it did considerably more damage to the environment.

It also heightened the need for medical responders and search and rescue.

Many trails are built to ride at certain speeds. The mixed use trails often see more incidents due to trails being used at faster speeds than intended.

I am a proponent for e bikes but only on specific built trails that have clear visibility and that can handle the damage e-bikes do to the soil and environment. Otherwise we are allowing and welcoming more problems than our resources may be able to handle.
