Comments: I am all for this trail project! The area has always been good for mountain biking, but the trails tend to have a higher degree of difficulty, such as the climb on Earthquake Ridge. It will be great to have more trail options and will open up the sport to more people. I know some people are concerned about people that a project like this will bring. I just want to say that, in my cycling experience, these are the demographics you want to attract. Most cyclists are green-minded and clean up their own trash, but other trash they see. Many own small businesses and tend to support local shops wherever they go. I believe this project will bring Mena to level that will benefit people of all ages. All while allowing Mena to keep its "small town charm."
