Comments: Please limit logging across the country. Do not allow logging of true old growth trees, or even "mature" trees. They provide our oxygen, protection for other tree growth and animal life, the source of their own reproduction over time, and physical and emotional relaxation for those who visit them.

The best management of our forests is to leave them alone. Stop cutting them down, no matter how much money the government - or private enterprise - receives for trees dead on the ground or lifted out by helicopter. Our ever-growing population needs more clean air and all the other benefits forests provide much more than it needs lumber.
