Comments: First, let's not forget who the National Forests actually belong to. American tax dollars fund every thing to do with the Pike National Forest.

Pike National Forest provides great opportunities for recreational shooting, and hunting. I don't want to take my grandkids to a range with other shooters, because I can control the environment when we are shooting by ourselves. This is a safer situation than being around people whom I have no idea of their level of proficiency, or gun safety. Additionally, I hunt in the Forest and want to be able to teach my grandkids to hunt there as well.
