Comments: I own many guns and have a concealed carry permit. However, I also spent two days with a volunteer group cleaning up the Harris Park range, several years ago. We filled several pick-ups with bags of trash, thousands of shell casings, used targets, etc. Look at what is happening to our national parks--litter and vandalism. Any shooting ranges in national and state forests should be camera monitored and those who litter, vandalize and endanger others and wildlife should be banned for life. There are private ranges where they would have to pay to use the range that are closely monitored and should be their only recourse for practice. After five years minimum, they could ask for lifetime ban to be lifted, but only if they prove they have been educated on proper range use. There should be no second chance to lift the ban. Violations of the ban should have heavy penalties, including at least one night in jail. I am sick of the entitled attitude of "I can do what I want".
