Comments: I support most of what I see in PCEC, Winter Wildlands, and Jesse Logan. CommentsSpecifically long term impacts to skiing especially south of Cooke. I think it could create more snow machine/ timbersled access into woody and republic creeks. Wilderness signs are non existent. You're creating a travel management problem. The forest. Along the major drainage didn't burn in 1988 since it held moisture. Thinning will only dry it out. Something I have observed in many timber sales I was involved with. I didn't realize the forest service knew how to create more resilient white bark standsby thinning. I have observed natural WB regen throughout the project area. Use low standard roads and decommissioning following use. Recent high standard log road at red lodge has only made people angry. Please explain road development plan to public. Have you done modeling to show what fire behavior would do before treatment and after. Sorry for curt remarks having to respond on my phone. Please define what outcomes you want from enhancing health Just stating that isn't good enough.
