Comments: USDA-Superior National Forest:

As a tax-paying resident of Minnesota, I agree that sale of School Trust Lands (landlocked in the BWCAW) to the Superior National Forest is the best way to use and capitalize on the value of these acreages for the State.

Investing the sale proceeds (as per discretion of the State of Minnesota) in interest-bearing or other capital-producing funds is the wisest way to use these proceeds. A mere land swap would not produce as much capital for the Trust.
