

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 8/23/2024 12:23:35 AM

First name: Dan

Last name: Green

Organization:

Title:

Comments: I support the project. Some consideration should be made for planting widely spaced larch and ponderosa in the burned over area. The fire scar will see crowded lodgepole pine reproduction, creating a fire adapted ecology. Planting some tap rooted thick barked fire resistant conifers will help create forest diversity with species that will not be prone to mountain pine beetle.

Dan Green

PhD university of Idaho

Forest science

1986.