Comments: To whom at concert, I disagree with removal of the Mono Lake Mahogany pass wild horse removal. You are you using old documents that were written up from the 70s and 80s of wild horses removal There are no new studies. Where is your viral impact report? Can you share that to help us all better understand the damage you are claiming on these animals? I am only representing myself, not an organization. I believe it I am local indigenous woman for the past 40 years and now busy have been here since World War I the tribal people used these horses for many different things when the Cowboys came and ran out our people. They also used these horses and they got round out by DWP told elders. A lot of the horses were let go not only that there is also documents that shows they migrated from Mexico to here, where are you? Locating them to another area is not fixing a problem. It's just making them someone else's problem. How can anyone be proud of that?
