Comments: Hello

I lived and traveled in the northwest USA for 40 years and remember when our forrest was managed by local authorities. Now it seems wealthy people back East and Hollywood influence Western lands management.

Without expertise the money goes to lawyers who use litigation as a delay tactic. These delays endanger our entire forest plus private property improvements. Timber needs expert management to shut down the dang fires each year!

Please find a way to come together like Colville Washington's example of cooperation. Please don't lose all of the timber assets arguing in court. Let the forest management selective log trees to maintain roads and under brush. Logging can pay for our forrest maintenance costs if done reasonably.
