

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 8/27/2024 11:27:59 PM

First name: DARLENE

Last name: RAISH

Organization:

Title:

Comments: The federal government needs to be a better steward of the forests it has been entrusted. Rather than let them burn every year why not manage them as a farmer manages his fields. Trees are a value crop that grow and thrive if managed properly.

In Oregon, the federal lands have been left to themselves and nature. It is high time that the great timber industry be revived. It produces much needed jobs and revenue. Why spend millions of dollars fighting fires instead of logging and clearing brush.

Trees are a crop to be harvested not destroyed by fire every year!