Comments: This is a long story about the citizens of America and our land, it is all connected. the forest in the beginning was over harvested and then we setup rules to manage the forest and then the rules became a tool for the environmentalist to overregulate. Countys were in control of the forest, and they were able to have income from the harvests, they were prosperous, the forest was healthy and the towns too. I see thinning projects in our area highways 89,88 and 50 but only after we have had serious wildfires. So sad to see the burn and the loss on private property. I will never see the regrowth the forest already burned. Please whatever you do make it simple and let your wisdom work with all who are involved.

God bless America and keep the righteous safe.
