Comments: I have concerns about this proposal:

1) instead of driving down road to test fire some hand loads of just shoot a box of ammo I will likely have to drive 30-60 minutes to get to a range.

2) will ranges have range safety officers (rso)? If not the safety factor you're trying to address will be useless.

Recall Rampart Range shooting range above cos? No rso and reputation for being dangerous. After an accidental shooting it was permanently closed. Will that be the fate of these ranges? Who will mediate conflicts on a range with no rso? Guaranteed to happen!

3) I foresee these ranges incurring a cost to utilize. Who will pay for environmental upkeep like lead removal? What's a reasonable fee?

I don't shoot trees, start fires, act irresponsibly or unsafely. Yet now I'll have to give up some of my freedom.
