Comments: This initiative to preserve the land in its natural State will provide future generations with so much more than what we take for granted today.

While revenue which could be generated by mining may provide some opportunities today, the risks last almost as long as the US Constitution has been in existence. That is too hard of a promise for any business to make.

I therefore ask that this purchase be made with the knowledge that the people in our time are carrying forward the legacy of maintaining the natural beauty with which we take pride within the State of MN.

Sincerely, Matt Krafthefer
